

I object at the reopening of Manston Airport as a cargo Hub.

The reason for my objections are listed below.

Ramsgate is a holiday resort, with a lovely harbour, hotels, and a great array of restaurants,

Should the application be approved, I feel the noise of the planes flying low over the town centre, would do harm to all of the places listed, Ramsgate has a medical centre, Nursing homes, shops, childrens, nursery, schools, that could be affected by the aircraft noise. also residential houses, and a large residential housing estate, where I live, when the airport was operational, sometimes, the smell of aviation fuel was awful,

I have enclosed a cutting from the daily Mail, dated May 5 2018, that I find very disturbing.

Aircraft noise 'raises risk of serious heart condition'

Mail Foreign Service

LIVING under a flight path can dramatically increase the risk of a dangerous heart condition, according to research.

A study involving more than 15,000 people found a link between those disturbed by noise and atrial fibrillation (AF), a condition that causes the heart to beat irregularly or very fast and can lead to clots and strokes.

The researchers from the University of Mainz, Germany, asked participants to rate how much they had been harassed in recent years by noise.

Aircraft were identified as the greatest source of noise pollution, and a higher level of annoyance with noise was associated with a significant increase in the frequency of AF.

Almost a quarter of those experiencing extreme anger were affected by the condition - more than ten times the rate among the general population.

The study, in the International Journal of Cardiology, could shed light on rising rates of AF.

Previous research by Imperial College London suggested the risks of stroke, heart and circulatory disease were up to 20 per cent higher in areas with a high level of aircraft noise.
