Dear Ms Anderson, and the Manston Airport Case Team,

No Proven Need Case

York Aviation in their research have pointed to various solutions for UK aviation, none have ever included Manston. Cargo capacity is available at Stansted and other airports.

Manston was originally only an airfield and never had permission as an airport - half a mile from Ramsgate- with a flight path over thousands and several schools, the planes coming in at 150metres above the roof. It has failed as airport to ever make a profit having a catchment area on one side only.

With Climate Change targets widely thought to be too little the Applicant (a start up company) requires 1.9% of the total aviation emissions budget for 2050...surely farcical.

Best Regards,

Margot Bandola
