The tangible future of Marston Global will be groundbreaking - forecasts commercial revenues will be impressive for Thailand - The South East and the United Kingdom, and Europe.

Cargo airfreight will continue to be robust until March 2022. Although after that with the return of belly passenger schedule services first route traffic return. However, volumes will continue to rise due to the post covid public demand and the familiarity of online purchases/delivery methods/ demand.

Cargo and passenger historical air transportation demand should be planned for 2022- 2024. A resurgence after 2024 and return to standard traffic growth patterns is expected.

US airlines/delivery companies have been approaching ideal European airports authorities intending to purchase and expand their European footprint. Key to being deemed in the redevelopment of the airports existing infrastructure for the next 50 years and the future interconnectivity by efficient green Hi-speed delivery services via road and rail.
