Hello,

Is there really no way this runway can be stopped? It doesn't make sense to me at all. Why encourage flying? We are facing a climate breakdown which has begun and I am not being dramatic. The farmers are struggling and trying to find ways to reduce their emissions and then you get Gatwick building another runway to increase the number of planes – a huge impact on our limited emissions...do you know the amount of carbon emissions this will add? Do you know we only have 4 years left to get below the annual carbon emissions limit before the world goes above what could stop us going to 3 degrees?

Susie

The demand for ivory and land in Africa means orphaned elephants. The website below is my way to raise funds and awareness to help.
