Dear Mr Singleton, I recently applied for planning permission for a small extension on a house I was looking into buying, not far from the land in question for the WM interchange, only a small plot on the side of a rural cottage, I was however refused as the land was precious greenbelt. With this in mind how in the name of god is it possible for such a monstrosity to even be considered? It will tear up so much greenbelt land. Rules apply as and when it suits, greed overrides and people's health, well being and our precious planet are tossed aside.

I would like to object to these proposals on the basis that they will obliterate too much greenbelt land; cause noise, air and light pollution and chaos to an area which does not have the road infrastructure for such plans. The health and safety of my children is my main reason for objecting. I do not want to sit back and watch as our hometown gets transformed into yet another area of heavily polluted air space.

Yours Faithfully, Philippa Elsmore
