

Submission ID: 22334

The projected employment opportunities do appear to be inflated and over optimistic, it would not be unreasonable to request evidence of the method used and the real world accuracy of the data of that method from historic predictions engaging the same method